

Great Way To Free Seized Engines

By Bill Vincent, Dryden, Ontario

Over the past 2 years I have added to my collection of vintage cars and tractors. I purchased a 1948 Ford 2N tractor at an auction that had not run for at least 6 years. I bought a 1932 Chev 2-door that hadn't run since the mid-70's. Both previous owners said the engines were running when parked and that they had put oil in the cylinders. Both engines were seized tight. I worked for 2 years on the tractor and one year on the car, using the best penetrating oils available, turning cranks every time I walked by, trying to turn the flywheels backward, rocking vehicles in gear and jumping on bumpers. Nothing worked.

Then I heard a rumor about magic stuff that was guaranteed to work. I located your website www.Seized-Engine.com and found a testimonial from a friend who had successfully used your product. I ordered enough to treat the 2 engines. As luck would have it, the Chev. broke free the day before the Engine Release arrived and didn't require the treatment (would have been nice to have it freed a year ago!).

I started treating the tractor as per your instructions, 1 oz. per day per cylinder for 3 days, then wait for a week. I don't have that much patience. I tried to turn the flywheel backwards on day 4. No luck. Day 5, it moved. In half an hour, slowly working the flywheel and the crank alternately, it is free!

I will be keeping the other 3 cans of Engine Release for future use or to share with friends.

Thanks for your product.

Mow Your Lawn With Mini Horses

Have you ever wondered what you could do with a mini horse or donkey? How about using it to pull a reel mower cart to mow your yard?

Omar Fisher of Mascot Sharpening and Sales has specialized in reel mowers since 1986 when he started his sharpening business.

Recognizing a growing interest in raising mini horses, he and a welder designed the Mini Gang Mower, which makes a 21-in. cut and comes with shafts in two sizes for a mini horse or small pony. The mower has a seat and foot pedal steering.

"Half of our customers aren't Amish," Fisher says. "They have horses and want to put them to work. They mow their lawns."

With a growing interest in miniature horses, he's had customers from a variety of locations in the U.S. and Canada as well as Sweden.

All of his business's mowers have heat-treated, hardened knives and reels, are available in steel or rubber wheels and have a three-year warranty.

Mini mower cart prices start at $425. A model with three mower gangs and a 58-in. cut is his best seller. The company also offers a variety of sizes and styles, including a 5-gang mower with a 92-in. cut that can be pulled with a 4-wheeler or small tractor.
