

One of Silver Stream's biggest sellers is its 38 by 100-ft. steel truss, with frame and cover kit, including pipe and ratchet tie-down.

Wood Or Steel Hoop Barns

The relationship between FARM SHOW and Silver Stream Shelters goes back many years. In addition to being featured in Best of FARM SHOW year after year, FARM SHOW has also given away a number of Silver Stream buildings as prizes in our subscription sweepstakes contests. This year Silver Stream wants to reward FARM SHOW subscribers with "subscriber only" deals. The specials, detailed below, are for "limited quantities only".

Silver Stream Shelters, owned by Darryl Enns and David Arnold, was founded in 1997. The company specializes in the production of Hoop Barns with either steel or wood rafters as well as doors and replacement tarps. "2011 was our best year ever, with 462 shelters leaving our factory floor so far. We have two full-time delivery semi's operating in the U.S. and Canada," says Enns.

The steel series is available in 30-ft. wide single hoops, and 30, 38, 42, 50 and 65-ft. wide truss arch. The wood series is available in 30, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44-ft. wide.

Silver Stream also sells replacement covers for all brands and canvas track door systems from 10 by 10 ft. to 15 by 20 ft., or any size in between.
