That was a very good report in the last issue of FARM SHOW on our reworked rasp bars to give combines more capacity with less kernel damage. However, the phone number listed with the story was wrong. It should have been 812 522-1398.

Thanks for featuring our Drive-Way Alarm system in your fine new paper. You wouldn't believe how many inquiries and orders we have received. You must really cover a lot of area as they are from all over U.S.

I particularly like farmers comments on problems with equipment they purchase. There is a lot of room for improvements in engineering of products.

I've purchased a set of reworked rasp bars from Clarence Trempe, Seymour, Ind., from the article I saw in FARM SHOW. I'm anxious to try them. I personally think you are doing an excellent job and hope you'll continue.

I want you to know that it was our 13 yr. old Steve who was responsible for our subscription to your new products magazine.

Enclosed find a check for $15 for a 1 year subscription for a friend of mine who lives in England and is in the Agri-Service business.

The reason I am sending it to him is that I find it to be one of the best that I have ever read and I think he will like it too.

I enjoy your FARM SHOW paper very much. We've needed a publication like this.

Richard J. Ferrell

We enjoy your concise report on new developments in the agribusiness and related fields. The same products reported in the usual magazine format are often overlooked because you often do not have time to look through all the material, and often articles of no interest to your operation.

We appreciate your including our new Switch-A-Load system in "Farm Show". I must commend you on the accuracy and the manner in which it was presented. We have since had a number of inquiries from several states.

I didn't think you could fill a magazine full of innovative new products and inventions every issue but you have so far. I've enjoyed it.

We need new ideas for our young folks coming up — ages 18 to 25 — to keep them down on the farm.

I read your current issue of FARM SHOW with considerable interest. It is certainly a new concept and I wish you the best of luck in this venture.

Your section on consumers comments relating to best buys and worst buys is interesting. From a manufacturing standpoint, it will be interesting to watch for pros and cons on one's own product. I only hope that manufacturers will be given an opportunity to respond if they think that someone has taken a "cheap shot" through your forum. Most people are reasonable but there is always that small minority who cannot be satisfied with even the best quality control and customer service program.

I like the clear and brief "no holds barred" way your FARM SHOW is put together.

It's very exciting and refreshing to pick up a farm magazine and not have every other page full of ads.

Dennis Porter

I get twenty-plus magazines and rate FARM SHOW as one of the top publications.

I enjoy reading and seeing pictures of new products that you don't ordinarily see in the average magazine.
