

FARM SHOW

New Products Especially For Women And The Farm, Ranch Home.

You can preserve your favorite machine or advertise your favorite hog or other animal with the help of Agri-Photo buckles.

"GREAT GIFT IDEA"

Say It "Your Way" With Personalized Buckles

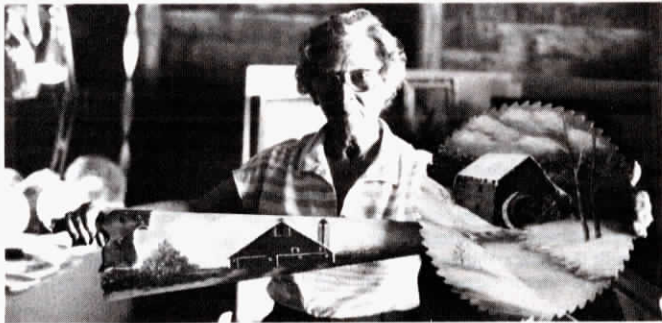

"They make great gifts," says John Price, creator of personalized belt buckles. Through his Agri-Photo Buckle service, he'll put any message or photo you want on a good-looking, heavy-duty belt buckle.

Price says buckle requests run the gamut from a favorite hog or cow, to antique tractors to advertising messages or slogans. He can mount any photo or logo that will fit proportionally inside a 2 by 3 in. buckle. The photo or paper itself is placed in the buckle, then coated with a heavy protective coating.

"If you have a ready-to-fit photo, the buckle price is $10. If you send us a negative, the cost is $15.00, plus $7.50 for each additional buckle," Price told FARM SHOW.

For more information, contact: FARM SHOW Followup, John Price Agri-Photo Buckles, Box 159, Road 900N, Lizton, Ind. 46149 (ph 317 994-5718).

Lillian will reproduce your favorite photo of an old saw.

Remember Your Farm As You "Saw" It

Latest innovation in the world of art is "saw painting", as practiced by Lillian Hansen, of Russell, Minn.

Hansen, who learned to paint less than 5 years ago, specializes in reproducing old barns and farm scenes on discarded hand saws or power saw blades.

Before she paints on the saw, she removes rust and dirt with a wire brush, then puts on a coat of rust-proofing primer. She paints right on the primer coat with oil or acrylic paints. She has worked on all types of handsaws, circular saw blades and even large 2-man crosscut saws.

Cost ranges from "about $25 for a handsaw to $75 for a 2-man crosscut saw," Hansen told FARM SHOW. "I prefer to work from sight or memory, but I can also paint a picture of anyone's barn or farm if I have a photo to work from," she notes.

For more information, contact: FARM SHOW Followup, Lillian Hansen, Russell, Minn. 56169 (ph 507 823-4734).

New kitchen machine slices eggs three ways.

THE EGG MACHINE

"Egg-Ceptional" Kitchen Gadget

Here's an "egg-ceptional" new kitchen gadget — the Egg Machine.

The metal slicer is 3 machines in one, converting eggs into wedges for salads, slices for hors d'oeuvres platters, or rosettes for garnishers.

The slicer leaves the yolk intact, cutting six perfect wedges with one downward motion.

Sells for $9.99 and comes with a hanging hole for mounting on a wall when not in use. It's made of dishwasher-safe acrylic.

For more details, contact: FARM SHOW Followup, A. K. Das and Co., 1607 (0) East Edinger, Santa Ana, Calif. 92705 (ph 714 972-3141).